

Auslan Information Update 1
for prospective Auslan students

21 May 2013

Thank you for your interest in the delivery of Auslan courses at NMIT. We are currently in the process of planning our courses and would like to update you regularly on our progress.

We can confirm the following details at this stage:

We intend to enrol students in Certificate II and Diploma of Auslan (for those students wishing to start at Certificate II) in July 2013.

Full time and Part time options will be available

- Full time will be offered over 5 days per week
- Part time will be three days per week. Depending on enrolments, we would like to deliver both day and evening part time options
- The 2013 intake will be face-to-face delivery at the NMIT Collingwood Campus.

We hope to be able to confirm fees by the end of next week.

Enrolments in Certificates III and IV in Auslan are expected to commence during 2014.

We are anticipating online components of the Auslan courses will be available from 2014.

Our Auslan web pages are currently under construction and we will soon be posting course information on the NMIT website.

In the mean time, you may like to check out the international report announcing the Victorian Auslan Training Consortium (VATC) as the new Auslan provider for Victoria.
